

DATA SECURITY FOR DIGITAL DATA STORAGE

Abstract of the Disclosure

5 A computing system includes data encryption in the data path between a data source and data storage devices. The data encryption may utilize a key which is derived at least in part from an identification code stored in a non-volatile memory. The key may also be derived at least in part from user input to the computer.

10

S:\DOCS\TRA\TRA-1681.DOC
101598

0927483-032699
669210" 2944250